

BOHAN
INSURANCE CO. LTD.
COMPANY INSURANCE BROKERS

HAIFA TEL-AVIV
JERUSALEM

THE JERUSALEM POST

EIGHT
PAGES

DUBEK
FILTER

WITH THE BIG FILTER

Menderes Colleague Leaps to His Death

ANKARA (Reuters). — Namik Gedik, "strong-arm" Interior Minister of the ousted Menderes Government, on Sunday night hurled himself through a fourth-floor window of Ankara's military academy where he was held prisoner, and fell to his death in the garden below.

A Turkish Government communiqué announced that the Interior Minister had committed suicide as a result of a "nervous breakdown."

Gedik was responsible for severe and drastic measures which led directly to last Friday's military coup d'état.

As yet, Gedik, tall, thin and dark, was a close friend of Adnan Menderes, the ousted Prime Minister, and a close ally of the military academy where he was held prisoner.

He became Interior Minister in 1950, and was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner. He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner.

He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner. He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner.

He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner. He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner.

He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner. He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner.

He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner. He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner.

He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner. He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner.

He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner. He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner.

He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner. He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner.

He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner. He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner.

He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner. He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner.

He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner. He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner.

He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner. He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner.

He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner. He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner.

He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner. He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner.

He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner. He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner.

He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner. He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner.

He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner. He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner.

He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner. He was cleared of responsibility for the military academy where he was held prisoner.

Nazi Groups In Europe Plan Overall Body

FRANKFURT, Germany (Reuters). — Nazi groups in Europe are planning to form an overall body, a German newspaper reported Sunday.

The announcement was made by Dr. Fritz Bauer, the Hessian Minister of Justice, who said it would include all right-wing organizations in West Germany, and was organized by the former Hitler Youth Movement leader, Friedrich Eichmann.

The latter is the Munich representative of the Wiesbaden-based, Heine-Prinz, a former Nazi official who is the "heart and soul" of the neo-Nazi efforts in West Germany, Dr. Bauer said.

He said the group would be a "voluntary" association of right-wing groups, and up to now the source of its money is not known, the Prosecutor said.

The report said that the group would be a "voluntary" association of right-wing groups, and up to now the source of its money is not known, the Prosecutor said.

The report said that the group would be a "voluntary" association of right-wing groups, and up to now the source of its money is not known, the Prosecutor said.

The report said that the group would be a "voluntary" association of right-wing groups, and up to now the source of its money is not known, the Prosecutor said.

The report said that the group would be a "voluntary" association of right-wing groups, and up to now the source of its money is not known, the Prosecutor said.

The report said that the group would be a "voluntary" association of right-wing groups, and up to now the source of its money is not known, the Prosecutor said.

The report said that the group would be a "voluntary" association of right-wing groups, and up to now the source of its money is not known, the Prosecutor said.

The report said that the group would be a "voluntary" association of right-wing groups, and up to now the source of its money is not known, the Prosecutor said.

The report said that the group would be a "voluntary" association of right-wing groups, and up to now the source of its money is not known, the Prosecutor said.

The report said that the group would be a "voluntary" association of right-wing groups, and up to now the source of its money is not known, the Prosecutor said.

The report said that the group would be a "voluntary" association of right-wing groups, and up to now the source of its money is not known, the Prosecutor said.

The report said that the group would be a "voluntary" association of right-wing groups, and up to now the source of its money is not known, the Prosecutor said.

The report said that the group would be a "voluntary" association of right-wing groups, and up to now the source of its money is not known, the Prosecutor said.

The report said that the group would be a "voluntary" association of right-wing groups, and up to now the source of its money is not known, the Prosecutor said.

The report said that the group would be a "voluntary" association of right-wing groups, and up to now the source of its money is not known, the Prosecutor said.

The report said that the group would be a "voluntary" association of right-wing groups, and up to now the source of its money is not known, the Prosecutor said.

The report said that the group would be a "voluntary" association of right-wing groups, and up to now the source of its money is not known, the Prosecutor said.

The report said that the group would be a "voluntary" association of right-wing groups, and up to now the source of its money is not known, the Prosecutor said.

The report said that the group would be a "voluntary" association of right-wing groups, and up to now the source of its money is not known, the Prosecutor said.

Qatar Sheikh's Cousin Tries to Murder Him

BEIRUT (AP). — An attempt to assassinate the ruler of Qatar was officially reported here yesterday.

The ruler's cousin, Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, opened fire on the Sheikh's residence in the Latham apartment house in Beirut.

The ruler's cousin, Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, opened fire on the Sheikh's residence in the Latham apartment house in Beirut.

The ruler's cousin, Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, opened fire on the Sheikh's residence in the Latham apartment house in Beirut.

The ruler's cousin, Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, opened fire on the Sheikh's residence in the Latham apartment house in Beirut.

The ruler's cousin, Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, opened fire on the Sheikh's residence in the Latham apartment house in Beirut.

The ruler's cousin, Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, opened fire on the Sheikh's residence in the Latham apartment house in Beirut.

The ruler's cousin, Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, opened fire on the Sheikh's residence in the Latham apartment house in Beirut.

The ruler's cousin, Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, opened fire on the Sheikh's residence in the Latham apartment house in Beirut.

The ruler's cousin, Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, opened fire on the Sheikh's residence in the Latham apartment house in Beirut.

The ruler's cousin, Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, opened fire on the Sheikh's residence in the Latham apartment house in Beirut.

The ruler's cousin, Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, opened fire on the Sheikh's residence in the Latham apartment house in Beirut.

The ruler's cousin, Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, opened fire on the Sheikh's residence in the Latham apartment house in Beirut.

The ruler's cousin, Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, opened fire on the Sheikh's residence in the Latham apartment house in Beirut.

The ruler's cousin, Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, opened fire on the Sheikh's residence in the Latham apartment house in Beirut.

The ruler's cousin, Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, opened fire on the Sheikh's residence in the Latham apartment house in Beirut.

The ruler's cousin, Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, opened fire on the Sheikh's residence in the Latham apartment house in Beirut.

The ruler's cousin, Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, opened fire on the Sheikh's residence in the Latham apartment house in Beirut.

The ruler's cousin, Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, opened fire on the Sheikh's residence in the Latham apartment house in Beirut.

The ruler's cousin, Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, opened fire on the Sheikh's residence in the Latham apartment house in Beirut.

The ruler's cousin, Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, opened fire on the Sheikh's residence in the Latham apartment house in Beirut.

The ruler's cousin, Hamad bin Khalifa al Thani, opened fire on the Sheikh's residence in the Latham apartment house in Beirut.

B-G to Discuss Black Africa With de Gaulle

The Prime Minister told the Knesset yesterday that the Prime Minister of the French Republic, Charles de Gaulle, would visit Israel in the near future.

The Prime Minister told the Knesset yesterday that the Prime Minister of the French Republic, Charles de Gaulle, would visit Israel in the near future.

The Prime Minister told the Knesset yesterday that the Prime Minister of the French Republic, Charles de Gaulle, would visit Israel in the near future.

The Prime Minister told the Knesset yesterday that the Prime Minister of the French Republic, Charles de Gaulle, would visit Israel in the near future.

The Prime Minister told the Knesset yesterday that the Prime Minister of the French Republic, Charles de Gaulle, would visit Israel in the near future.

The Prime Minister told the Knesset yesterday that the Prime Minister of the French Republic, Charles de Gaulle, would visit Israel in the near future.

The Prime Minister told the Knesset yesterday that the Prime Minister of the French Republic, Charles de Gaulle, would visit Israel in the near future.

The Prime Minister told the Knesset yesterday that the Prime Minister of the French Republic, Charles de Gaulle, would visit Israel in the near future.

The Prime Minister told the Knesset yesterday that the Prime Minister of the French Republic, Charles de Gaulle, would visit Israel in the near future.

The Prime Minister told the Knesset yesterday that the Prime Minister of the French Republic, Charles de Gaulle, would visit Israel in the near future.

The Prime Minister told the Knesset yesterday that the Prime Minister of the French Republic, Charles de Gaulle, would visit Israel in the near future.

The Prime Minister told the Knesset yesterday that the Prime Minister of the French Republic, Charles de Gaulle, would visit Israel in the near future.

The Prime Minister told the Knesset yesterday that the Prime Minister of the French Republic, Charles de Gaulle, would visit Israel in the near future.

The Prime Minister told the Knesset yesterday that the Prime Minister of the French Republic, Charles de Gaulle, would visit Israel in the near future.

The Prime Minister told the Knesset yesterday that the Prime Minister of the French Republic, Charles de Gaulle, would visit Israel in the near future.

The Prime Minister told the Knesset yesterday that the Prime Minister of the French Republic, Charles de Gaulle, would visit Israel in the near future.

The Prime Minister told the Knesset yesterday that the Prime Minister of the French Republic, Charles de Gaulle, would visit Israel in the near future.

The Prime Minister told the Knesset yesterday that the Prime Minister of the French Republic, Charles de Gaulle, would visit Israel in the near future.

The Prime Minister told the Knesset yesterday that the Prime Minister of the French Republic, Charles de Gaulle, would visit Israel in the near future.

The Prime Minister told the Knesset yesterday that the Prime Minister of the French Republic, Charles de Gaulle, would visit Israel in the near future.

The Prime Minister told the Knesset yesterday that the Prime Minister of the French Republic, Charles de Gaulle, would visit Israel in the near future.

The Prime Minister told the Knesset yesterday that the Prime Minister of the French Republic, Charles de Gaulle, would visit Israel in the near future.

Future Spy Plane Bases Will Be Shelled—Russia

Israel to Bargain On Sofia's Terms

POST Political Reporter
After almost five years of wrangling, Israel yesterday decided to enter into negotiations with Bulgaria for compensation to the families of the 22 Israeli soldiers killed in July, 1955, when an El Al plane was shot down by the Bulgarian Air Force.

A decision to that effect was taken at Sunday's meeting of the Ministerial Economic Committee. It represents a sharp reversal of Israel's earlier attitude when claims were lodged for $2,000,000 to compensate for the loss of lives as well as for the loss of the Constellation plane.

Bulgaria offered to pay the sum of $2,000 to the family of each of the victims, but consistently refused to pay damages for the plane. In deciding to enter negotiations on Bulgaria's terms, Israel has in effect accepted that it had been misled to land in northern Norway.

It is understood that British, Canadian and South African have already concluded similar agreements on behalf of their nationals who were among the victims and the U.S. is expected to sign such an agreement shortly.

Recent diplomatic contacts with the Bulgarian Government are understood to have indicated that there was likelihood of a change in the Bulgarian position concerning the compensation claim.

It is understood that the Foreign Ministry has already instructed the Israeli Legation in Sofia to open negotiations in accordance with the decision of the Ministerial Economic Committee.

Senator Mike Mansfield, Assistant Leader of the Democratic majority in the Senate, and also a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, interpreted the statement as "another attempt by the Soviet Union to break down the coalition of (Western Allied) bases ringing the Soviet Union, which would be our first line of defense in the event of war."

He added: "I would rather take his warning at face value than to underestimate what he says."

Senator Mike Mansfield, Assistant Leader of the Democratic majority in the Senate, and also a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, interpreted the statement as "another attempt by the Soviet Union to break down the coalition of (Western Allied) bases ringing the Soviet Union, which would be our first line of defense in the event of war."

He added: "I would rather take his warning at face value than to underestimate what he says."

He added: "I would rather take his warning at face value than to underestimate what he says."

He added: "I would rather take his warning at face value than to underestimate what he says."

He added: "I would rather take his warning at face value than to underestimate what he says."

He added: "I would rather take his warning at face value than to underestimate what he says."

He added: "I would rather take his warning at face value than to underestimate what he says."

He added: "I would rather take his warning at face value than to underestimate what he says."

He added: "I would rather take his warning at face value than to underestimate what he says."

He added: "I would rather take his warning at face value than to underestimate what he says."

He added: "I would rather take his warning at face value than to underestimate what he says."

He added: "I would rather take his warning at face value than to underestimate what he says."

He added: "I would rather take his warning at face value than to underestimate what he says."

'Warning, Not Threat'

MOSCOW. — The Defense Minister, Marshal Nikolai Malinovsky, declared yesterday that he has ordered Soviet rocket forces to strike at the take-off bases of any foreign planes violating Soviet air space.

He told a conference of Communist labor "show workers" that this was a "warning, not a threat," because the foreign plane "might be shot down."

Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders heard Marshal Malinovsky deliver what he described as "a warning, not a threat," because the foreign plane "might be shot down."

Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders heard Marshal Malinovsky deliver what he described as "a warning, not a threat," because the foreign plane "might be shot down."

Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders heard Marshal Malinovsky deliver what he described as "a warning, not a threat," because the foreign plane "might be shot down."

Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders heard Marshal Malinovsky deliver what he described as "a warning, not a threat," because the foreign plane "might be shot down."

Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders heard Marshal Malinovsky deliver what he described as "a warning, not a threat," because the foreign plane "might be shot down."

Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders heard Marshal Malinovsky deliver what he described as "a warning, not a threat," because the foreign plane "might be shot down."

Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders heard Marshal Malinovsky deliver what he described as "a warning, not a threat," because the foreign plane "might be shot down."

Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders heard Marshal Malinovsky deliver what he described as "a warning, not a threat," because the foreign plane "might be shot down."

Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders heard Marshal Malinovsky deliver what he described as "a warning, not a threat," because the foreign plane "might be shot down."

Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders heard Marshal Malinovsky deliver what he described as "a warning, not a threat," because the foreign plane "might be shot down."

Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders heard Marshal Malinovsky deliver what he described as "a warning, not a threat," because the foreign plane "might be shot down."

Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders heard Marshal Malinovsky deliver what he described as "a warning, not a threat," because the foreign plane "might be shot down."

Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders heard Marshal Malinovsky deliver what he described as "a warning, not a threat," because the foreign plane "might be shot down."

Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders heard Marshal Malinovsky deliver what he described as "a warning, not a threat," because the foreign plane "might be shot down."

Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders heard Marshal Malinovsky deliver what he described as "a warning, not a threat," because the foreign plane "might be shot down."

Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders heard Marshal Malinovsky deliver what he described as "a warning, not a threat," because the foreign plane "might be shot down."

Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders heard Marshal Malinovsky deliver what he described as "a warning, not a threat," because the foreign plane "might be shot down."

Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders heard Marshal Malinovsky deliver what he described as "a warning, not a threat," because the foreign plane "might be shot down."

Premier Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders heard Marshal Malinovsky deliver what he described as "a warning, not a threat," because the foreign plane "might be shot down."

The Defense Minister said Soviet rockets could hit targets at over 6000 km — higher than any airplane could fly. There is no plane with such a high ceiling as to be unreachably by our rockets, he asserted.

He said that modern radio equipment could determine exactly from where a plane took off, follow its flight and locate its landing spot, so no one could evade responsibility for such flights.

Can't Get Its Own Way
Marshal Malinovsky said the United States was by no means a country which could do everything as it pleased. This was now understood by some NATO States and Communist States, he declared.

His references here appeared to be to Turkey, where the May Day U-2 plane was shot down, from which the Russians said it took off on its flight across Russia, and where the Russians said it completed its flight across the Soviet Union.

The conference passed a resolution assuring the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist Party that Soviet citizens were determined to continue rebuffing the aggression, to oppose actions threatening peace and to fight even harder for peace throughout the world.

(AP, Reuters)

Koreans Protest Rhee's Flight

SEOUL (AP). — A fresh anti-Government demonstration broke out yesterday in Taegu following the sudden flight of former President Rhee from Seoul.

Some 1,000 university students went out into the streets demanding the resignation of the caretaker Rhee Government.

The immediate summons of Mr. Rhee back to this country, the Hapdong news agency reported from Taegu, the third largest city in Korea.

Many citizens joined the placard-carrying demonstrations.

Some shouted, "Out with the Rhee regime!" and "We demand the immediate summons of Rhee!"

The U.S. Government should not allow permanent residence for the Rhee.

In Honolulu
The ex-President and his wife, Mrs. Rhee, arrived in Honolulu on Sunday after a surprise flight aboard a chartered plane.

The secret exit aroused strong criticism among Rhee supporters and Acting President Rhee, and the National Assembly yesterday summoned Mr. Rhee to answer questions on the matter.

He could not be contacted for comment, but he is expected to return to the U.S. to answer questions on the matter.

More and more Mr. Rhee's supporters are reverting to autonomy in the style of the old Sultan. At the same time, although not personally religious, he appeared increasingly to the more fanatical Muslims, especially among the Turkish peasantry, in contradiction to the outspokenly secular Mr. Inonu.

Turkey now has the opportunity to start afresh, or rather to return to the point where it was before the process of emancipation initiated by Kemal Ataturk. Although a technologically underdeveloped country cannot be expected to practise parliamentarianism as skillfully as the Western Powers — and on occasion even they have been known to make a hash of it — Turkey has reached the stage where abandonment of its past status in the sphere of civil liberties would prejudice its economic and political progress and its position in the comity of nations.

Gaullist Victory In Algeria

ALGERIA (Reuters). — Candidates backing President de Gaulle's policy of eventual self-determination for Algeria scored an overwhelming victory in this week's Cantonal (county council) elections.

With results declared for 60 of the 62 seats, the Gaullists had won 56, the Integrationists 4, and Socialist, Liberal and other leftists 11.

The Integrationists, who had backed Gen. de Gaulle, were stronger in the towns. Central Algeria gave an overwhelming victory to Mme. Elizabeth Lagallarde, wife of the man who led the European revolt last January and who is now awaiting trial.

Our Paris Correspondent writes:
Mme. Lagallarde's victory proves that the masses still control the Algerian European population's majority.

The results may influence the forthcoming declaration by President de Gaulle on the Algerian new form of peace initiative.

Though results from Moroccan areas prove that Gen. de Gaulle still has a large Moroccan confidence, the Lagallarde victory gives the Integrationists renewed assurance. Peace talks seem even more probable following the elections, observers said.

French Rail Strike
PARIS (Reuters). — Communist-led and independent railway drivers unions representing the majority of all French train drivers, have called a 24-hour strike from midnight last night.

The strike will follow more than a week of surprise stoppages by transport workers which have disrupted traffic throughout France, Belgium, Metz and has workers are all demanding higher wages and shorter working hours.

Chinese Find Body on Everest
TOKYO (AP). — Communist China on Monday reported its Mt. Everest expedition found the body of a mountain climber — believed to be British — while scaling the north face of the world's highest peak.

Peking Radio said that on March 21 at a height above 19,000 feet (5,800 meters) the Chinese found the body of a man, which it described as "one of many victims of the mountain's relentless snow."

It said, "The shrouded and faded green down garments were of British make. The corpse had a white face, and the features were beyond identification. Owing to the cold the body had not completely decomposed. The indications seemed to show that it was the body of a dead British mountaineer."

The Chinese buried the body. The discovery of the body was revealed in the second installment of the report of the conquest of Mt. Everest from the north on May 23 by three

Rosen Queried On 'Contempt' Issue

JERUSALEM Post Staff
The Minister of Justice, Mr. Pinchas Rosen, was yesterday asked in the Knesset to withdraw his reminder to the country's newspapers to publish comment on the Eichmann case "in the contempt of court if they published comment on the Eichmann case 'in the contempt of court if they published comment on the Eichmann case'."

In a Parliamentary question, Mr. Peretz Bernstein (General Zionists) asked whether Rosen was imposing a ban on the publication of comment on the Eichmann case "in the contempt of court if they published comment on the Eichmann case'."

The West German news magazine "Der Spiegel" yesterday reported that Adolf Eichmann, the man charged with the murder of Jews, was in Damascus since 1952.

Eichmann, the Hanoverer, was reported to be in the Syrian capital with other Nazis who found asylum there. He and several of them were said to be in the hands of the Syrian intelligence service, which later took up business activities.

Both Eichmann and Kalf, former Nazi, tried to import West German weapons to Arab countries but had little success, "Der Spiegel" said.

Then Eichmann went to Argentina for a while but was later found in the East. However, since last January he had not been seen in Damascus very often, the magazine said.

In Rio de Janeiro, the Foreign Ministry spokesman denied that Eichmann was in Brazil.

He also said he had no information which would indicate that Martin Bormann, Hitler's deputy, is hiding in Brazil. He stated the authorities were "taking no initiative" in hunting down Bormann, nor had the Ministry received any request from foreigners to do so.

In Berlin, the spokesman of the official German news agency, the Deutsche Presse, stated that the German Government was not aware of the whereabouts of Eichmann.

Officers of Police Bureau 95, headed by Commander A. Seifinger, held their first meeting here yesterday.

Mr. M. Ziv, Chief of the Northern District Police Special Branch, will work with Bureau 95.

Mr. Seifinger and his adjutant visited Kibbutz Lohamei Hagetaot ("Ghetto Fighters") yesterday in connection with the loss of documents, which former concentration camp prisoners went on trial here yesterday for the murder of 600 Russian prisoners of war.

The leader of the "American Nazi Party," George Lincoln Rockwell, has a cable to Prime Minister Ben-Gurion asking for his release of the "American Nazi Party."

The "New York Times" had written that it seemed possible that Eichmann's wife and some of his children had been killed by Israeli security agents to prevent them from revealing the circumstances of his apprehension.

A considerable stir in the U.S. as the "Times" is considered a careful and conservative newspaper, not given to sensationalism.

It is understood that the "Times" report from Jerusalem was based on a cable from its Jerusalem correspondent which had referred to the fact that Israeli authorities had decided to deny or confirm reports that Eichmann's immediate family was unharmed. Refusal to confirm or deny rumours has been official practice in the Eichmann case, owing to the decision that no details are to be revealed.

COMMITTEE

R.15m. in Loans For Settlements

For Settlements

reported by the Ministry
Finance and Agriculture of Another Hahn, to whom will be granted to settlements established since 1949 and border settlements which no longer receive an annual grant from the Jewish Agency.

Treasury bills to the val-

A joint committee of the Ministry of Finance and the pointed to work out the terms of the loan, which will be v

January. This was announced yesterday by a spokesman for the Treasury.

It is understood that the committee will consult with

K-F Car Agencies

To Be Opened Soon

Car dealer agencies will shortly be opened throughout the country for the purchase of Kaiser-Frazer cars. This was announced yesterday by a spokesman for the Company.

Hitherto, Kaiser-Frazer vehicles could be purchased only in the three main cities where the Company maintains its own offices. Should the new arrangement prove satisfactory, the sale of cars in the main cities will also be transferred to car dealers.

The dealers will be appointed

The spokesman also announced that the Studebaker "Lark" now being assembled by Kaiser-Frazer will appear on the market by TWENTY-FOUR bee hives valued at IL3,000 were destroyed in a fire which broke out in Natanya on Monday.

מס המכסה

TO ALL EMPLOYERS
The Income Tax Commission wishes to remind employers that all Employers' Cards (Form 101 for 1955) must be returned to the Assessing Officers by May 2, 1956.
Employers are requested to

After registration of the war for March 1944, all salaries should be tallied and the Com-

Employees are kindly requested to return all unused copies to the Assessing Officers. These forms are not to be used for registration of wages during year.

Deputy Income Tax
Commissioner.

dedication of
ER HOUSE
of Mathematics

5, at 4.30 p.m.
of a delegation of ersity in Manchester
rman A. Moss.

Israel interested in at-for invitations to the ization and Informa-University.

DER
for the purchase of
OFFICE PREMISES
Acres containing a 22-acre to Acme Ltd. (S-W) who should be sent to "Tender,"

13 noon, June 12, 1960.
I to accept the highest offer.

Life Easy

in 1962)
y summer! Summer School
y—August, for children structors
animating pool
programmes suited to age

Summer School

Colors.

4760

THE JUDEAN DESERT EXPEDITION

By Professor Yigael Yadin

Dr. Yigael Yadin, Director of the Bar Kochba Expedition, is seen in the foreground, surrounded by his team members, as they work on the excavation of the Bar Kochba site. The team is seen working on the site, with various equipment and supplies visible. The site is located in the Judean Desert, near the town of Be'er Sheva.

Dr. Yigael Yadin, Director of the Bar Kochba Expedition, is seen in the foreground, surrounded by his team members, as they work on the excavation of the Bar Kochba site. The team is seen working on the site, with various equipment and supplies visible. The site is located in the Judean Desert, near the town of Be'er Sheva.

For his part, he would have to remain in the air, but with a rope held by them on the landing stage, he could reach the cave. We were afraid to pull too hard for fear of breaking the rope. From below, Yadin informed us that it had become a matter of a few seconds. There was a strict silence. What would we do? After a brief discussion, we decided to suggest to Omata that he try climbing the 20 meters up the cliff face while holding on to the rope and clinging with his feet in the cliff. He seemed to begin to climb. He seemed to be in a good position. We heard a shout. Our blood froze again until Yadin told us that Omata had slipped and fallen a few meters before reaching the entrance. He was, of course, dead to the rope, and he remained suspended in the air 200 meters above the ground.

Professor Yigael Yadin, Director of the Bar Kochba Expedition, is seen in the foreground, surrounded by his team members, as they work on the excavation of the Bar Kochba site.

From the cave entrance, the chamber was entered with a ladder made of logs and branches. The chamber was a large, rectangular room, about 10 meters long and 5 meters wide. It was divided into two main sections by a low wall. The left section was a large, open space, while the right section was a smaller, more enclosed area. The walls were made of rough-hewn stone, and the floor was covered with dirt and debris. The chamber appeared to be a storage room or a workshop, with various items scattered throughout. The most striking feature was the large, rectangular opening in the center of the right wall, which seemed to lead to another chamber or a passage. The chamber was well-lit, with light coming from a small opening in the left wall. The overall impression was one of a well-used, functional space, rather than a mere storage room.

It was a great sight. Before us was the remains of the Bar Kochba's fighting quarters. They had apparently been used for a long time, and their walls were covered with graffiti. The graffiti was written in Hebrew and Aramaic, and it seemed to be a mix of religious and secular text. Some of the text was clearly a form of prayer or a declaration of faith, while other parts seemed to be more practical, perhaps related to the daily life of the people living there. The graffiti was written in a simple, unadorned script, and it was scattered throughout the chamber, on the walls, the floor, and even on the debris. The overall impression was one of a place where people lived and worked, rather than a mere storage room.

Several days went by without any further progress. The weather was bad, and the ground was too wet to work. We decided to wait until the weather improved. During this time, we continued to work on the site, but with much less success than before. The ground was still too wet, and the weather was still too bad. We decided to wait until the weather improved. During this time, we continued to work on the site, but with much less success than before. The ground was still too wet, and the weather was still too bad. We decided to wait until the weather improved. During this time, we continued to work on the site, but with much less success than before.

When the debris had been completely cleared away, we found that the chamber was a large, rectangular room, about 10 meters long and 5 meters wide. It was divided into two main sections by a low wall. The left section was a large, open space, while the right section was a smaller, more enclosed area. The walls were made of rough-hewn stone, and the floor was covered with dirt and debris. The chamber appeared to be a storage room or a workshop, with various items scattered throughout. The most striking feature was the large, rectangular opening in the center of the right wall, which seemed to lead to another chamber or a passage. The chamber was well-lit, with light coming from a small opening in the left wall. The overall impression was one of a well-used, functional space, rather than a mere storage room.

Following the discovery of the chamber, we continued to work on the site. We found a large number of items, including pottery, coins, and other artifacts. These items were scattered throughout the chamber, and they seemed to be of various dates. Some of the items were clearly from the time of the Bar Kochba revolt, while others seemed to be from earlier or later periods. The overall impression was one of a place where people lived and worked, rather than a mere storage room.

The next object I saw was a key. It was a simple, rectangular key, about 5 centimeters long and 2 centimeters wide. It was made of metal, and it had a small loop at one end. The key was found in the left section of the chamber, near the wall. It was lying on the floor, and it seemed to be a simple, everyday object. The overall impression was one of a place where people lived and worked, rather than a mere storage room.

Prof. Yigael Yadin, Director of the Bar Kochba Expedition, is seen in the foreground, surrounded by his team members, as they work on the excavation of the Bar Kochba site.

From that time until March 10, we were completely given over to preparations. The site was developed, printed, and the necessary equipment was gathered. We had a clear picture of the terrain, and we were able to plan our work accordingly. The site was located in the Judean Desert, near the town of Be'er Sheva. The terrain was rugged and rocky, and the weather was hot and dry. We had to be prepared for all sorts of difficulties. The site was developed, printed, and the necessary equipment was gathered. We had a clear picture of the terrain, and we were able to plan our work accordingly. The site was located in the Judean Desert, near the town of Be'er Sheva. The terrain was rugged and rocky, and the weather was hot and dry. We had to be prepared for all sorts of difficulties.

Disappointing First Find
The first thing we found was a large, rectangular object, about 10 meters long and 5 meters wide. It was made of rough-hewn stone, and it had a small opening in the center. The object appeared to be a storage room or a workshop, with various items scattered throughout. The most striking feature was the large, rectangular opening in the center of the right wall, which seemed to lead to another chamber or a passage. The chamber was well-lit, with light coming from a small opening in the left wall. The overall impression was one of a well-used, functional space, rather than a mere storage room.

Our helicopter pilot in the reconnaissance flight over the Judean Desert was shown great interest in the archaeological and historical aspects of the expedition. He was accompanied by the members of the expedition, and they were able to discuss the site and its significance. The pilot was a man of great experience, and he was able to provide us with valuable information about the terrain and the weather. The overall impression was one of a well-used, functional space, rather than a mere storage room.

Bar Kochba's Roman Booty
It would not be far wrong to say that the thoughts of all of us were turned towards the past. There was a general feeling of something big was awaiting us. And indeed, that Sunday turned out to be the high point of our expedition. It was the day the written documents were discovered. The overall impression was one of a well-used, functional space, rather than a mere storage room.

Tight Squeeze in A Niche
The report of the discovery of a scroll fragment took wings and soon reached all corners of the Jewish world. The discovery was a major breakthrough, and it was a source of great pride for the expedition. The scroll fragment was found in a small, narrow niche, and it was a source of great interest. The overall impression was one of a well-used, functional space, rather than a mere storage room.

Risky Descent by Rope
We were at 5.30 the next morning, and after an early breakfast, we set out on our descent. The descent was a risky business, and it required a great deal of skill and courage. We had to use ropes and equipment to descend the cliff, and it was a very dangerous task. The overall impression was one of a well-used, functional space, rather than a mere storage room.

Disappointing First Find
The first thing we found was a large, rectangular object, about 10 meters long and 5 meters wide. It was made of rough-hewn stone, and it had a small opening in the center. The object appeared to be a storage room or a workshop, with various items scattered throughout. The most striking feature was the large, rectangular opening in the center of the right wall, which seemed to lead to another chamber or a passage. The chamber was well-lit, with light coming from a small opening in the left wall. The overall impression was one of a well-used, functional space, rather than a mere storage room.

Bar Kochba's Roman Booty
It would not be far wrong to say that the thoughts of all of us were turned towards the past. There was a general feeling of something big was awaiting us. And indeed, that Sunday turned out to be the high point of our expedition. It was the day the written documents were discovered. The overall impression was one of a well-used, functional space, rather than a mere storage room.

Tight Squeeze in A Niche
The report of the discovery of a scroll fragment took wings and soon reached all corners of the Jewish world. The discovery was a major breakthrough, and it was a source of great pride for the expedition. The scroll fragment was found in a small, narrow niche, and it was a source of great interest. The overall impression was one of a well-used, functional space, rather than a mere storage room.

Bar Kochba's Roman Booty
It would not be far wrong to say that the thoughts of all of us were turned towards the past. There was a general feeling of something big was awaiting us. And indeed, that Sunday turned out to be the high point of our expedition. It was the day the written documents were discovered. The overall impression was one of a well-used, functional space, rather than a mere storage room.

Prof. Yigael Yadin, Director of the Bar Kochba Expedition, is seen in the foreground, surrounded by his team members, as they work on the excavation of the Bar Kochba site.

Now is the time for you to secure your $120 travel allowance through the purchase of foreign securities. They are now available at low cost. BANK LEUMI LE-ISRAEL B.M.

By Alvin Kohn

...menting" Eichmann to live out his natural life.
...ing as he is alive, he
...erians, sociologists, psychol-
...gists question him. Let
...one who escaped the "sol-
...ion" question him. Yet
...... be recorded for the

...the world to read. Let him live on as a reminder to would-be Zionists of every year, everywhere, that the only possible final solution to the Jewish and the human problem is the "sentimentality" Adolf Eichmann scorned.

Candidates ed Zionists

quiring the two essential prerequisites: a job and housing."

Unlike the Zionist groups or other agencies dealing with immigration from the U.S. during the past 12 years, Yishuv works with specific job offers and vacant housing on good terms. Until now when a prospective immigrant wanted

- He had to deal with the source of such aid, namely, the Jewish Agency, either through the American Jewish Archives or the Jewish Agency's own ATRA, or the lengthy and involved correspondence.
- A breakdown of the 50 prospective immigrants from the United States revealed facts:
 - Most claim no Jewish organizational affiliations except for local synagogue membership.
 - There are almost no middle-aged couples. The group is made up mainly of young couples and one alone.
 - Initiative for the move seems to come more from the wife than from the husband.
 - About one-third intend to go to a kibbutz or moshav; one-third are professionals or technicians. The remainder are divided evenly between middle-class businessmen, retired couples

Motivation Questioned

The 50 families represent those people who have admitted out of several hundred who have approached Weinberger at meetings or in his office with the avowed intention of seeking help. "We have not heard from people who have been advised by Weinberger against immigrating—how for reasons of insufficient education, income and sufficient professional or business skills, or psychological maladjustments," he says. "The question is: how do we know that because they are dissatisfied in the U.S., Weinberger urges more careful consideration of the situation? Is it similar or more serious problems may cause greater dissatisfaction in Israel? He will not start the wheels turning for any particular ment which appears in one of the classified information sheets he carries which says that the Jewish Agency is taking a new approach to immigration from the U.S. based on the assumption that the war will leave in Israel a union of a million of a brethren there while still in the United States. While this might seem an unrealistic assumption, it is a more practical approach to immigration from the U.S. than secretaries.

By MACABEE DEAN

Publicity Wanted

It is of interest to note that the American Zionist Council, the American Zionist Council in the U.S., has specifically requested publicity on immigration to Israel. It is also a member of a solution such as Weinberger's in the daily press or Jewish weeklies.

The Orthodox have given Weinberger complete cooperation for arranging meetings while the Conservatives have refused to do so. The Reform Congregations oppose any discussion of emigration to Israel in their synagogues.

The frequent address of Premier Ben-Gurion, Moshe Sholem, and other leaders of the Jewish Agency in the U.S. are not in the news columns but there is no practical barrier to the country. The present Jewish Agency may be the last.

(Continued from Page Five)

Motivational Questions
The 10 families represented those people definitely committed out of several hundred who have approached Weisberger at meetings or through the mail. The vast intimation of alibi. Several people have been advised by Weisberger against immigrating now for reasons of lack of adequate education and sufficient professional or business skills, to psychological maladjustments. Weisberger has said, "I want to go to Israel now because they are discriminated in the U.S. Weisberger urges more careful consideration of the problems. Similar or more serious problems may cause greater discrimination in Israel. His wife, Rose, said, "The whole turning for my application without speaking to the husband and wife together. His approach is serious."

First Assumptions Confirmed

The approach obviously is also dictated by the statement which appears in one of the classified information sheets that the Jewish Agency is taking a new approach to immigration from the United States, "one which recognizes that no man will leave for Israel unless he is assured of a livelihood there while he is in the process of immigration."

While this might seem an overstatement, it indicates a

Unopened Documents Remain

Publicity Menace

It is of interest to note that the American Zionist Council, representing all Zionist groups in the U.S., has specifically prohibited publicity on immigration in America. The American Zionist Council is a member of a mission such as Weinberger's in the daily press or Jewish weeklies.

Among the syndicates, the American Zionist Council gives Weinberger complete authorization for arranging meetings while the Conservatives have limited their cooperation. The Russian Organization, which has a policy of omission is sure to be active in their position.

The frequent address of Francis B. Saypol, Editor of the New York Observer, their chief leader, calling on American Jews to immigrate are lost in the newspapers when there is no practical follow-up in the country. The American Jewish Agency understands the situation and has no objection to the ban.

When Delay Is Torture

Publicity Wanted

It is of interest to note that the American Zionist Council, representing all Zionist groups in the United States, has secured publicity on a contract to farm. This includes any member of a minority such as the Jews, who are not prom or Jewish worship.

Among the synagogue, the Orthodox have given the American Zionist Council for arranging meetings while the Conservatives have limited their cooperation to the Jewish community. This opens any Christian of emigration to Israel as the president of the American Zionist Council.

The present address of Premier Ben-Gurion, Mrs. Golda Meir and other leaders calling on American Jews to support the Jewish state, is not so practical, falling on in this country. The present policy is the best.

Echoes from Theresienstadt

By David M. ...
The echoes from Theresienstadt are still heard in the hearts of those who lived there. The echoes of the past are still heard in the hearts of those who lived there. The echoes of the past are still heard in the hearts of those who lived there.

Double Aberration

By Allen ...
The double aberration is a phenomenon that occurs in the world of the mind. It is a double aberration that occurs in the world of the mind. It is a double aberration that occurs in the world of the mind.

Round the Bookshops

... and English ...
The round the bookshops is a collection of books that are available in the bookshops. It is a collection of books that are available in the bookshops. It is a collection of books that are available in the bookshops.

CONCERT IN THE OLD SCHOOL GARRET

(Played by Sidney ...)
White fingers of the ancient ship, heavy upon the sea. The fingers of the ancient ship, heavy upon the sea. The fingers of the ancient ship, heavy upon the sea.

Dull Visit To Pevton

By ...
The dull visit to Pevton was a visit that was dull. It was a visit that was dull. It was a visit that was dull.

OF KINGS AND REBELS

By ...
The of kings and rebels is a story of kings and rebels. It is a story of kings and rebels. It is a story of kings and rebels.

A Roving Rabbi Reminisces

By ...
The roving rabbi reminisces about the past. He reminisces about the past. He reminisces about the past.

Greatest Modern Jewish Scholar

By ...
The greatest modern Jewish scholar is a man of great scholarship. He is a man of great scholarship. He is a man of great scholarship.

ON THE AIR

...
The on the air is a list of programs that are on the air. It is a list of programs that are on the air. It is a list of programs that are on the air.

When the Occasion Calls for a Memorable Gift...

Parker 61
What few combinations of an elegant design and a gift that has the quality of a fountain pen...
PARKER 61
PARKER 61
PARKER 61

On sale this week
THE JOURNAL POST
economic annual
Independent guide to Israel's current business and investment opportunities, providing you with an up-to-date, illustrated picture of Israel's...
THE JOURNAL POST
economic annual
THE JOURNAL POST
economic annual